Hello Laura,

My concerns remain the same as previously stated in my submissions. There has been no evidence presented that changes my opinion of any of the concerns I raised before.

The facts remain the same and the history of disregard for the regulations and procedures of legally obtaining permits remains unchanged. As does the fact there is no way to prove that work done without inspections throughout construction can be determined to meet requirements.

My opposition remains unchanged and my concern over my drinking water supply remains paramount.

All the best.
