New members appointed to Natural Resources Conservation Board

Edmonton... Government has appointed new members to the Natural Resources Conservation Board (NRCB). The NRCB requires additional expertise because the Board is now responsible for reviewing Confined Feeding Operation (CFO) proposals, effective January 2002.

The new full board members are: Dr. Gordon Atkins, Maureen Schwab, Jim Turner, and Brady Whittaker. Dr. Brian Bietz remains as Chair of the Board.

The NRCB also includes acting board members who can be called upon when additional expertise is needed. New acting board members are Jack Campbell, Dr. Robert Powell, Ada Rawlins, and Jim Smith. Other acting members who remain on the Board include Lorne Goff, Archie Grover, William Hull, William Kennedy, Sheila Leggett and Carolyn Dahl Rees. Neil McCrank will move from a full member to an acting member position.

The NRCB is a quasi-judicial tribunal. It has a mandate to review natural resource projects that involve the forest industry, non-energy mining, recreation, or water management development. Starting January 1, 2002 the Board's mandate expanded to include reviewing, approving, monitoring and enforcing regulations for Confined Feeding Operations.

The NRCB operates as an independent board that reports directly to the Minister of Sustainable Resource Development.
